HEADS UP.

A concussion can occur when you take a hit to the head or when you run into something or someone and stop suddenly. Kids are more vulnerable than adults, and if you get one concussion, you're more prone to get another. Rest – and avoiding another hit – are the keys to recovery.

FIT FAT

WANNA STAY FIT?

FIGHT THE FAT!

ITEM: Dried Fruit

VERDICT: Sweet Energy

TIP: Dried fruit – alone or in a trail mix – is a great source of quick energy, especially for strenuous or extended physical activity. But a mere handful of raisins is the same as a pound of grapes – and all the sugar is concentrated in the drying process, so the calories are concentrated, too.
